NCHO Nomination / Presentation Topic Interest Form

Do you know someone or have someone from your institution that you believe would be a wonderful presenter at NCHO? Is there a topic that you are really interested in hearing about at the conference? In collecting these responses, we hope to share topics with interested presenters, recruit presenters with experience in these areas, and to help others brainstorm! See this form to submit today!

Program Proposal Information

We invite you to submit a program proposal that focuses on our topic areas:

- Creating Inclusive Community Spaces: topics centering on creating thriving and welcoming communities for all students
- Leadership: topics centering on developing supervision and leadership skills or philosophy of staff
- Housing Operations and Logistics: topics centering on operations including assignments, finance, move-in/out logistics, and conference
- Professional Development: topics centering on development of professionals including resume development, networking, and involvement in organizations
- Student Accountability and support: topics centering on supporting students of concern and working with students in the conduct process
- Student Engagement and Learning: topics centering on student engagement, learning, and learning communities
- Innovation and Change: topics centering on creating and managing change on any scale within your organization

PROGRAM BRAINSTORMING

The NCHO '24 program committee is hosting brainstorming sessions for anyone interested in presenting in October. The next session will be held on July 23, 2024 from 3 - 4 PM.
